Witness the entire town turn into a stage of traditional performing arts!

Kagurazaka is a labyrinth of intricately crossing hills and back alleys; a mysterious urban space part of whose structure has remained the same since the Edo Period. The streets that make one's heart dance just by walking down them will turn into a stage of traditional performing art once again this year. Various arts that are normally performed in theaters come out to Kagurazaka's main street and back alleys, into landmarks such as Bishamonten Zenkoku-ji Temple and Akagi-jinja Shrine as well as the local restaurants and cafes. 2 days dedicated to enjoying Japanese performing arts in the streets of Kagurazaka where tradition lives on in the present. Join this festival where the town and its people come together as one and fully appreciate the beauty of Japanese culture.
