Edo-Tokyo Open Air Architectural Museum

Located in the grounds of the Koganei Park in Tokyo, the Edo-Tokyo Open Air Architectural Museum (opened 1993) has an area of approximately seven hectares, and houses 27 historic buildings from as far back as the Edo Period to the early years of the Showa Period. As these historic buildings were no longer able to be stored in their original locations, they were moved to their current location at the park to be reconstructed, preserved and exhibited to the public.

Tokyo Traditional Arts Program Executive Committee

Tokyo Culture Creation Project is a project that the Tokyo Metropolitan Government and the Tokyo Metropolitan Foundation for History and Culture have been executing in collaboration with various arts-related organizations. The Project's objectives are to create and promote arts and culture that are unique to Tokyo, to develop children's rich sensibilities through arts and culture, and to create various local cultural focal points in Tokyo. The Project's activities include organization of various art events, the facilitation of collaborative art programs between residents of Tokyo and artists; and operation of programs to provide children with the opportunity to experience arts and culture.
